

Everybody Wins Bingo!

Children focus on identifying fruits and vegetables in playing this simplified Bingo game featuring pictures instead of numbers.

CODE: Low activity level

PROPS:

Bingo Cards for children (pages 10-12)

Call cards for leader – use the 15 Where Does It Grow? cards (food picture side) in the “Color Me Healthy” kit , or the fruit and vegetable cards provided (pages 15-18)

Items to cover the called items on Bingo card such as squares of paper, legos, etc.

Optional: Small prizes for “winners” (all will eventually be winners) such as fruit and/or vegetable stickers, a small toy or piece of fruit, etc.

ACTION:

1. Instruct the children on how Bingo is played. Show them that the cards are not alike. The provided cards are laid out in a tic-tac-toe fashion rather than a five row, five column traditional Bingo style.
2. Choose a child to be the “caller” with your help. Place the call cards face down and have the caller pick one card and hold the picture of the fruit or vegetable for all players to see.
3. Have the children verbally identify the picture and place a token over the picture if it appears on their card. Per your instruction, you may have Bingo being declared if three pictures in a row are covered or Bingo when the entire card is covered.
4. Depending on the attention level and desired playing time, the game can continue after the first Bingo is called until a second, third, etc. Bingo. Or the game may be restarted after each Bingo. Several children may “Bingo” at the same time.
